HUNDREDS KILLED.

Iroquois Theater, Crowded With a Matinee Audience, Converted Into a Seething Cauldron of Flame.

In the Mad Plunge for the Exits Hundreds Are Thrown Down and Trampled Into Unrecognizable Pulp.

CORPSES FOUND PILED UP IN MASSES

Chicago, Dec. 30.—About 550 people were killed in ten minutes this afternoon during a fire in the Iroquois Theater, the newest, the largest, and, as far as human power could make it, the safest theater in Chicago. It is estimated that the dead and injured vary. The police account of the dead is 530. The estimate of the newspapers is 562.

Besides this there are 55 people missing, the majority of whom are probably among the dead in the morgues and various undertaking establishments.

Eighty-six of the dead have been positively identified and 92 others are known to be injured.

It will be several days before all of the dead are known and identified. There are bodies lying by the dozens to-night in the undertaking rooms, in the police stations and in the hospitals, from which nearly everything that could reveal their identity to those who knew them best is gone. Their clothing is torn to rags or burned to cinders, and their faces have been trampled into an unrecognizable pulp by the heels of the crowd that trampled them down as they fled for safety.

The fire broke out during the second act of the play "Mr. Bluebeard," which was the first dramatic production given in the theater since its erection. The company, which was very large, escaped to the street in safety, nearly all of them, however, being compelled to flee into the snowy streets with no clothing but their stage costumes. A few members of the company sustained minor injuries, but none were seriously hurt.

The accounts of the origin of the fire are conflicting and none of them certain, but the best reason given is that an electric wire near the lower part of a piece of drop scenery, suddenly broke and was grounded.

Asbestos Curtains Failed to Work.

The fire in itself, up to this time, was not serious and possibly could have been checked had not the asbestos curtain failed to work. As soon as the fire was discovered, Eddie Foy, the chief comedian of the company, shouted to lower the curtain and this was immediately done. It descended about half way and then stuck. The fire thus was given practically a flue through which a strong draft was setting, aided by the doors, which has been thrown open in the front of the theater.

With a roar and a bound the flames shot through the opening over the heads of the people on the first floor and reaching clear up to those in the first balcony, caught them and burned them to death where they sat. Immediately following the rush of the flames there came an explosion which lifted the entire roof of the theater from its walls, shattering the great skylight into fragments.

It is expected the explosion was caused by the flames coming in contact with the gas reservoirs of the theater, causing them to burst.

About 1,200 people were in the building. About 800 were in the balconies and nearly all of them were killed or injured.

LOUISIANA PURCHASE

GOLD DOLLAR.

Finest Example of Modern Coin age Art.

(Written by Farnaz Zerbe.)

The late coins issued from the United States Mint at Philadelphia to commemorate the Louisiana Purchase Gold Dollar have been pronounced by numismatists the finest examples of modern coinage art. The coinage, which will live as a metallic memorial of the great

World's Fair of 1904, was provided for by a specific Act of Congress, which also limits their issue to 250, 000 pieces. The entire coinage will be delivered direct to the Exposition company and will represent a part of the Government's general appropriation of $5,000,000 for the Exposition.

These specially designed coins are of two types: two obverses having the same reverse; 125,000 bearing an excellent likeness to Thomas Jefferson—the Government father of the Louisiana Purchase. This portrait of Jefferson, which is probably the best known, was taken from one of the medals in the Mint cabinet, the original of which was engraved by John Reich, who, for some years during the Jefferson period, was connected with the Mint. The other 125,000 present the profile of William McKinley, the Government father of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. The McKinley portrait was also taken from a Mint cabinet medal, for which the late president gave special writing to Mint Engraver Charles E. Barber and which is considered by the late president's friends his best portrait.

Surrounding these profile portraits is the inscription: United States of America. The reverse is inscribed: Louisiana Purchase Exposition. One Dollar 1803 1903 and a small olive branch, emblematic of peace.

Gold dollars were first issued in 1849 and ceased every year until discontinued in 1869. During these forty years over nineteen million pieces passed to circulation, and thought it is less than fifteen years since they ceased to be coined, all have disappeared from circulation.

In fact this type of coin is a curiosity to many and the most common deals command $2 each from coin dealers and the rarest, 1875, is in demand at prices approaching $60.

The general interest that it has been found for the regular issue prompted the Exposition Company to adopt the gold dollar for its commem-

Editor Kentuckian:

The good people of this town have presented me with a nice writing outfit, including a desk, by unknown friends, a nice lot of paper and envelopes by Mrs. Annie Purcell and a very fine pen by Miss Julia Purcell. Nothing they could have given me would have been more appreciated, and I tender my sincere thanks to each and every one that took part in this benevolent deed. During my affliction the people have done many things for me, and I fully realize that I owe them more than I can ever pay. But I want my dear friends to know that every favor has been appreciated and wish it was in my power to return every one of them. It is not my will to put the people to any trouble or expenditure, for I had much rather give than to receive, but from some cause that none but God can reveal, I have been fettered and will have to make the best of it. So again thanking the people of Lafayette and wishing them a successful future, I remain, yours respectfully,

Just as good for liver and kidney troubles and general debility. Only one bottle. Satisfaction guaranteed by the maker." Hardwick, druggist.

Christmas Holidays.

Now that the holidays are over and you have abused your digestive organs until they are on the point of rebellion, the proper thing to do is to get back in working condition as speedily as possible. "A stitch in time saves nine" is an old saw but it is an old truth in homely dress that applies with greatest force to the human body. A little trifling ailment which was not considered worthy of a second thought has in countless instances cost a life. "A stitch in time" would have saved much suffering and distress to the victim and his family. Those who have to fight the battle of life, the wage-earners, must at once get in shape for another year's work. If they start out with an ailing body, be it ever so trifling, they cannot do their best and if no attention is paid to the trouble it soon becomes severe, entailing loss of time and money or worse. Prudent persons will get rid of the disorder as speedily as possible. A few doses of Prickly Ash Bitters will do this work. It will cleanse and strengthen the digestive organs, empty and purify the bowels, regulate the whole system and impart a feeling of strength and energy that will make work a pleasure. It is good for the whole family. Children who are puny, sick or who have eaten too freely of sweet stuff will immediately improve under its beneficial effect. For ladies particularly those subject to headache, indigestion, constipation or the ailments peculiar to their sex it is of the greatest value as it purifies the system thoroughly, tones up the vital organs, clears the complexion and promotes good appetite, vigor and cheerfulness.

Advance orders are big and will require more than half of the first edition to fill. Mr. Sommers' book, which may be described as a succession of delightful verbal pictures of the most interesting sights to be seen in the old world, will strongly appeal to all classes of readers, and especially to the cultured. The style is vivid and trenchant and the subject-matter from cover to cover irresistibly interesting. The book is so arranged by chapters that each historic scene is brought into the most vivid relief. Mr. L. G. Shanklin, who spent a few days of Christmas with his mother, has returned to St. Louis.

Mr. Winston Davis, who is attending college in Louisville, spent the holidays with his parents, near Howell.

Mr. L. A. Dade, of Indianapolis, Ind., who spent the holidays with relatives, returned home Tuesday. Mr. Dade is traveling for a Louisville hardware house, with headquarters at Indianapolis.

Night Was His Terror.

"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Applegate, of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough frightfully and spit blood, but, when all other medicines failed, three $1.00 bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained 58 pounds." It's absolutely guaranteed to cure coughs, colds, la grippe, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Hardwick's drug store.

Mr. W. A. Holland, of Eminence, Ky., for 35 years editor of the "Constitutionalist," died suddenly in Louisville, of apoplexy, aged 76 years.

No Pity Shown.

"For years fate was after me continuously," writes P. A. Guldge, Verbena, Ala. "I had a terrible case of piles, causing 24 tumors. When all failed Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me. Equally good for burns and all aches and pains. Only 25c at Hardwick's drug store.
